

How to Fix Outlook 2007 Keeps Prompting for Username Password When Using Outlook Anywhere

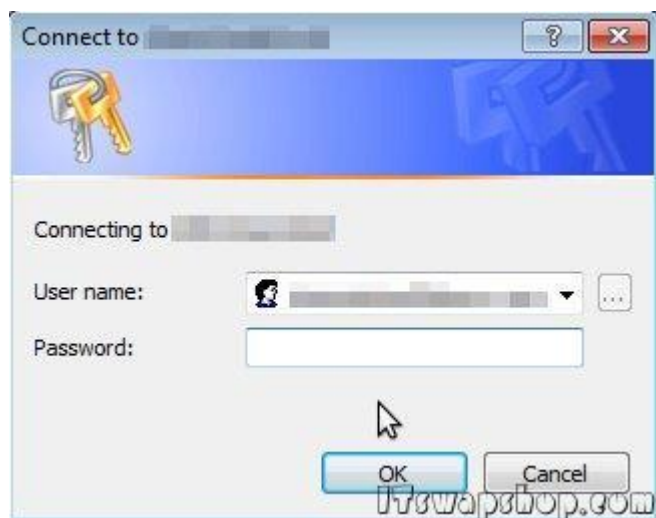

Submitted by ingram on Tue, 09/11/2012 - 11:01pm

Outlook 2007 password box keeps popping up

If you are using Outlook 2007 to connect to a Microsoft Exchange 2007 or 2010 server using Outlook Anywhere (formerly know as RPC over HTTP), you may have a username/password box constantly popping up asking you to enter your credentials. This will continue to happen even after entering the correct username/password and checking the "Remember my password" box:

To fix this, run Microsoft Fix it ^[1] 50636. Here ^[2] is the Microsoft KB on it.

If you get the same username/password box, but the "Remember my password" box is missing, you must first upgrade Office 2007 to SP3. Update through Windows Update, or download the service pack directly here [3].

Privacy Policy

support @ itswapshop . com

Source URL: <http://itswapshop.com/tutorial/how-fix-outlook-2007-keeps-prompting-username-password-when-using-outlook-anywhere>

Links:

[1] <http://download.microsoft.com/download/B/E/0/BE0BE3AE-792E-44CF-8156-CF1317A1F380/MicrosoftFixit50636.msi>

[2] <http://support.microsoft.com/kb/956531>

[3] <http://www.microsoft.com/en-us/download/details.aspx?id=27838>